

New building at WPCC

A Student Services and Instructional Building is on its way up at Western Piedmont Community College. In addition to its five new classrooms, the building will house the college food service, the college book store, and the Student Services office, which handles admissions, registration, and counseling. Scheduled to be ready in the spring, the new building will also contain a large lounge with an outdoor terrace which will be available for both student activities and community meetings.