

WPCC students remember

Larry Garrison (left), student government advisor at Western Piedmont Community College, and Susan Jennings, Student Government Association president, place a wreath at the base of the college's flagpole Friday shortly before noon during a brief dedication service for the late Sen. Sam Ervin Jr. During her presentation before a group of faculty and college students, Miss Jennings asked that people "not grieve for his (Ervin's) passing but remember his life — an honorable life of dedication and service to not only his country, his state or hometown of Morganton, but also to Western Piedmont Community College." (Photo by Alan Marler)